The Mansion

The Mansion at Werribee Park, constructed between 1874 – 77 marked the peak of affluence for squatters Thomas and Andrew Chirnside, a prominent pastoral family in Victorian times. Between 1922 and 1973 the Catholic Church operated a seminary at Werribee Park, in a combination of the original Mansion and new purpose built additions.

One of these buildings was St Joseph's Wing, which is now occupied by Mansion Hotel & Spa at Werribee Park. The State Government purchased this unique property in 1973 to ensure its preservation and restoration, and it opened as a historical tourist attraction managed by Parks Victoria in 1977.

Visitors can step into the beautifully restored 60 room Italianate mansion of the Victorian era. Visitors can take a self guided tour of the mansion and outbuildings or with an audio handset telling the history and stories behind each room.

Formal Gardens

Explore the 10 hectares of historic formal gardens including registered century old trees, colourful parterre, ornamental lake and one of Australia's last surviving grottos.

Victoria State Rose Garden

Spend some time smelling the 5,500 roses in the 5 hectare Tudor Rose shaped garden. Roses are in bloom from November to April.

Original Farmyard

Take a stroll to the farm area. Rustic bluestone outbuildings, once abuzz with workers and activity, provide a stark contrast to the elaborate craftsmanship of the Chirnside Mansion.

Riverine Area

The riverine is a natural and cultural treasure. Koori history along Wirribi Yaluk, known today as Werribee River, dates back over 40,000 years with acknowledged cultural heritage sites providing an insight into the Wurundjeri people and their relationship with mother earth.

Werribee Park Sculpture Walk

Explore the world of contemporary sculpture with the exciting new Werribee Park Sculpture Walk. Approximately 20 unique sculptures are sited along a meandering pathway leading from an area just behind the Mansion Hotel & Spa and down through the natural riverine.

Fortress – will you escape from the FORTRESS?

Fortress comprises of a series of mental and physical initiative tests. It is designed to make people work together to design and implement quality solutions. It's also designed to be FUN! Mental acumen and cooperation are much more important than physical prowess. People have to work together to escape the Fortress.

The program replicates the working environment, teams are given goals and tasks to overcome and it provides a strategy to see how they co-operate, communicate, solve conflicts and most importantly it highlights if they utilize the experience, knowledge and skills that exist within the group to overcome the challenges that confront them.

Banana Republic – a true catalyst for discussion and debate on ethics and your forward planning. Banana Republic is a “free form” experiential exercise (the rules are that there are no rules!), focussing on negotiation and communication skills.

Banana Republic brings to life the intrigue, power and money struggles of differing interest groups in a fictional developing country and your team is right in the middle of the action. Will your ethics and standards hold firm or is it true that money really is the universal language?

A lively, unpredictable and very revealing indoor exercise.

‘Fully Exposed’ - have fun and celebrate your success

Working in small teams, the participants would be required to work their way in and around the venue and surrounding grounds answering questions, finding clues, overcoming obstacles, solving dilemma's and taking funny photographs along the way.

Don't just talk about your corporate values, demonstrate the behaviours you want to promote and capture the evidence for all to see. Using our digital cameras, your imagination and a structured set of guidelines, the teams are challenged to photographically illustrate the core values most vital to your organisation. The results are powerful, engaging and very entertaining.

Widgets – highlight the importance of individual accountability!

Widgets is a fast paced and very interactive. Widgets highlights the need for empathy and understanding of how each individual's role affects the entire outcome. Widgets encourages your team to take control of the process through end to end management of the task.

Widgets is a process improvement challenge, which is seemingly impossible, but soon comes to reality by everyone working together.

Every Day Counts – based on Mark McKeon's unique lifestyle system, it's entertaining and challenging. It's a chance to make sure the ladder of success you are climbing is leaning against the right wall.

Leadership – 5 sides of the square

Genuine leadership, real leadership has 5 fundamental and universal requirements. The first 4 are all essential ingredients while the 5th is the X factor, the intangible extra that all great leaders have the fifth side of the square.

These apply regardless of the leader's personal style, the size or nature of the team, the industry, project or timeliness. All leaders will benefit by auditing their own leadership style against this template. Stepping into the five sided leadership square will enrich the lives of the leader and everyone involved in their sphere or influence.

SURVIVOR

General Information

Our ultimate experience - in the ideal location - builds your unbeatable team!

Inspired by the reality television show known the world over, our Survivor experience, is exclusive to Work@Play Pty Ltd. This is a fun, memorable, 'outside the box' solution designed to heighten communication and build teams.

Appealing to a large and varied audience Survivor will be an inclusive experience that is accessible to all. Specially tailored to meet your objectives it will utilise and capitalise on the unique location and leave your team members on a high.

Framework

A series of fun, challenging activities that drive participants to work as a team to succeed.

The challenges are specially devised to take advantage of the facilities available at the location, to minimise physical exertion and maximise team cohesion. Each challenge is linked back to key messages tailored to your event objectives.

Healthy competition is encouraged as the group is broken into teams (or tribes) of 10 (or number to suit) competing against one another to be 'The Ultimate Team'.

At the end of each challenge a 'short straw' is drawn and someone must change tribes. This challenges team dynamic when participants must quickly adapt to change and use it to their advantage.

Survivor culminates in a Tribal Council where key elements of the event and the activities are discussed sharing Survivor experiences.

There will be a Fun Trophy for the winning team (or prize for each participant), as well as a unique prize for the participant who envelopes the team spirit best.

The Venue

The breathtaking Mansion Hotel & Spa at Werribee Park and backdrop of Werribee Zoo play host to one of the most unique and rewarding activities available to corporate Australia. In an exclusive venue arrangement with Work@Play Pty Ltd this incredible venue is the perfect setting for the Survivor experience.

The Mansion itself is the ultimate in backdrop, the gorge, river flats, savannah range and amazing zoo becomes the Survivor challenge playground, transporting tribes into another world only 30 minutes from Melbourne CBD.

Contact us to receive a sample Survivor program. We can construct a unique experience, from 4 hours to 2 days, tailor made to target your team objectives and goals.

Price – available on application which is dependant on the duration of program and size of your group

MURDER MYSTERY DINNER

Andrew's Murder Mysteries

The Colonial Murder Mystery is set in 1857 just after the Eureka Stockade, at a shares issue dinner of the newly formed Victorian Gold Company. The evening is driven by the clients themselves, aided by their written instructions and secret cues given by the host.

The entire event takes 2 1/2 to 3 hours to complete. The guest's aid in the solving of the mystery and prizes are awarded for the best sleuthing and the best performances.

The fun is that nobody knows who is going to die next and who is not what they seem. That and a generous amount of cross dressing, impromptu speechifying, scandalous revelation, singing, dancing, gunfights, stabbings and poisonings; generally creates a very enjoyable event.

Your clients will not see each other in exactly the same light the next morning: They will have slightly richer view of their colleagues.

Format of the Evening

At the end of the day the clients return to their rooms to find a costume, props and character instructions laid out for them. Including an invitation to a dinner and pre dinner drinks.

I'd give them at least an hour to organize themselves and get dressed; I will be on hand to make last minute adjustments. Pre dinner drinks should be at least half an hour to an hour, at this point I introduce the characters and give any private instructions.

From there we proceed to dinner (suggest three course set menu) whereupon the plot unfolds with much murder and mayhem between the courses.

Overall running time of the show is difficult to estimate, dependant as it is upon the personalities involved and the alcohol consumed! But if you need to finish at a certain time, let us know and we will do our best to accommodate.

Price - $70.00 per person (minimum charge $1,400)

Includes

- Costume
- Character
- Master of Ceremonies

Minimums and Maximums

Minimum 20 players - Maximum 100 players

Please note that dinner, beverages and accommodation will need to be arranged directly with the hotel.
